DOINGS IN TOMBSTONE.

Items of Interest From the County Seat.

(Special to Review.)

Tombstone, Oct. 31.—United States Deputy Attorney Campbell, who was in the city yesterday to represent the government in the prosecution of the four Chinese cases before Court Commissioner Emanuel, was seen by your correspondent and asked if he thought the ruling recently made by Judge Wing in Ohio would have any effect in this section of the country in the Chinese cases. Mr. Campbell replied that "he thought that it would have no bearing whatever, and did not believe that the opinion would be sustained by the judges of this district. He continued: "You can not tell, however, as some lawyer is liable to bring the question up at any time, and the question have to be decided by the judge of the district. Mr. Campbell is of the opinion that he will have no trouble in securing a conviction in the Murphy-Price cases when they come to trial. The gentlemen will have a chance to plead to the new indictments on Tuesday next.

The various lawyers of this city are anxiously awaiting news from Phoenix in regard to the decisions that are to be handed down by the Supreme Court during its present session. There are quite a number of cases from this county at present up before that body.

C. I. McReynolds, the official court stenographer of the second judicial district, returned last evening from Solomonville, where he has been in attendance to the October term of the District Court. He states that a large number of criminal cases were disposed of, but that the civil calendar was hardly touched. An adjourned term of the court will be held some time during the early part of next year. The mining case involving the San Jose mining claim in the Clifton district in which W. B. Thompson was plaintiff and the Standard Copper Co. defendants, resulted in the jury bringing a verdict for the defendants. The property in dispute was valued at $200,000. The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

The four Chinese cases which were set for trial before Commissioner Emanuel yesterday were all continued on account of the depositions having failed to arrive from San Francisco. They were continued until December 10th.

Since the publication of the story of the capture of Chas. Gavin at Hot Springs in yesterday's Review, the following facts have been learned: The robbery was perpetrated on the night of December 12, 1901, when the values of A. W. Crawford, who represented Cook & Co., were taken from the store of Mrs. Bewett, on Main street, containing diamonds, watches, etc. A clew was obtained by the Beebe Bros. and Constable Graham, and a part of the goods recovered in a lodging house in Brewery Gulch, while the largest and most valuable of the lot were never recovered. Soon after the robbery two men, Tom Williams and Wm. Deveraux, were arrested and bound over to appear before the grand jury. The grand jury indicted both men. Williams was tried twice, the jury in the first case not arriving at a verdict, while the second resulted in his being convicted, and he was sentenced to a term of ten years in Yuma, which he is now serving. Deveraux was tried, but the jury failed to agree, and his case was continued until the next term of the court, which was December of last year. During the meantime the witnesses against him left the country, and the case was dismissed on motion of the district attorney, as there was not sufficient evidence at hand to secure a conviction. Soon after being released from the county jail Deveraux went to El Paso, and a few weeks later was caught in the act of attempting to blow open a safe in one of the saloons of that city. He was tried and found guilty, and was sentenced to serve four years in the state prison. About a month or six weeks ago he was placed in the hospital on account of complaining of being sick, and while in that institution succeeded in making his escape, and at last accounts had not been captured.

Chas. Gavin, the third man who was known to be implicated in the robbery, made his escape at the same time with him most of the stolen goods. He had the goods hidden under some mattresses in the lodging house where the others were found but managed to get away with them before the officers got on to the fact. From Bisbee Gavin went to Chandler where he was disposed of several watches. The Pinkerton Detective Agency sent two men down there to capture Gavin, but he had gone.

The Geo. H. Cook Co. at the time of the robbery offered $500 for the arrest of Gavin and the return of the jewelry, or $100 for the arrest of Gavin and his conviction. Miss Rose Hattich left this morning for San Francisco, where she will visit for a month or six weeks with friends and relatives. Chinese Inspector Connell was a visitor here yesterday, having just returned from a trip to Clifton and Morenci where he succeeded in capturing several Chinese.

CUTTIN' CORN.

Folks may hanker all they keer to fer th' country in th' fall; They may rave about th' beauty Of th' autumn leaves an' all; They may talk about th' glory Of th' sunshine an' th' breeze; They may gush about th' grandeur Of th' gold an' purple days; But they's just one reckollection Makes me glad, as sure's you're born: Gee, I'm glad 'at I'm not out there Cuttin' corn!

Spanish needles in yer jumper An' yer threadbare overalls; Cockleburrs as thick as hops that's Growin' on th' garden walls; Dead ole blades that keeps a-sawin' At yer blistered neck an' ears; I recall it just as easy, Though it's been a heap o' years Since I ust t' take my cutter An' go growlin' out at morn To put in a whole long day at Cuttin' corn!

Heap o' things a man don't fancy In this city life o' ours, Where ye've got t' keep a-spurin' At yer mind's an' body's powers; Sleep don't find yer eyes so easy As it did when ye was a kid; With the long day's tug an' rustle That th' farmin' work required, But ye'll never catch me frettin' Ner a-pinnin' round, forlorn, While I realize I'm safe from Cuttin' corn!

Hard Luck.

"You look hungry, Foxy." "I am. All the people in this neighborhood are getting to be vegetarians, and they're quit raising chickens."—Chicago American.

Not Inviting.

She had heard a great deal about heaven, and she had also heard considerable about the other place. As usual, her idea of the other place was much less hazy than her idea of heaven. People are not very specific when they speak about heaven.

"Heaven isn't like the bad place," she remarked inquiringly on one occasion. "No, my dear," her mother replied. "It's just the reverse of it."

The little one was silent for some time while she figured out what the reverse would be.

"I don't believe I want to go there," she announced at last. "I never did like cold weather."—Chicago Post.

Confidence.

Willie and Tommy are two Michigan youngsters who are pugilistically inclined. The other day the following conversation took place between them: "Aw," said Willie tauntingly, "you're afraid t' fight—that's wot it is."

"Now, I ain't," protested Tommy stoutly. "But if I fight my ma 'I'll find it out an' lick me."

"How 'll she find it out, eh?" "She'll see the doctor goin' t' your house."—Lyre.

His Experience.

"It's funny what mistakes dese newspapers make," said Meandering Mike. "What's de matter?" asked Plodding Pete.

"Here's one dat keeps talkin' 'bout de prisoner at de bar. My observation is that you don't have to keep a man prisoner at no bar. Most likely de only way to git him loose is to tell 'im it's 12 o'clock an' put out de lights."—Washington Star.

Favorite of Providence.

"I declar'," said Brother Dickey, "I got ter be mo' keeful in future—I sho' has!"

"What's de trouble now?" "Well, suh, I whirled in en prayed for rain des two hours en a half, en dey come a regular deluge dat come mighty high growin' de bes' trouble I had. Providence is so partial ter me!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Feminine Exception.

"Yes, Mrs. Dimbleton has a delightfully generous disposition." "Indeed?" "Yes, indeed. She'd share her last crust with a friend."

"Would she?" "She would. She'd give him anything she possessed except the last word."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Six Girls.

He's just an ordinary man. His clothes are rather old. His hat is worn and shabby, and his shoes have been re-soled. He doesn't put on any style or try to make a show. He really can't afford it, for he has six girls, you know.

They're all sweet, lovely creatures, and they cost an awful lot. They're always in the fashion, although dear papa is not. And he yearns to see them married though he hates to have them go. For a man has got to be able to keep his six girls, you know.
